The school system released at 4:00 today, on its website and social media platforms, information on SVA enrollment or return to campus for the Spring Semester. I am including that information here:

The information is very specific and the deadlines are well defined. Remember you are committing to a full semester of SVA instruction should you choose to enroll in the SVA. This information can also be found on the HHS website.

Exam Information:

The school board decided that we would not be giving final exams this semester. Both nine-weeks will count as 50% each to determine a final grade. All teachers will however give a unit test or project that is due on December 16th, the last day prior to exam days. No one is exempt from this unit test/project. All students will be expected to be in attendance through Dec 16. Now for the Exam Days. If your student is caught up on everything that is due in their classes they will not have to attend school on December 17th or 18th. If your student has zeros or any other work to make up or to complete to improve their grade they will be expected to be in attendance on December 17th, 18th, or both.

On November 19, Vol State is hosting a drive-in FAFSA help night. I have attached an image of the flyer. FAFSA Help

The Veteran's Day concert is tomorrow night in the stadium. If you do not attend any other band concert this year, please consider this event. It is a wonderful show and a wonderful way to salute the veterans in our community. The concert begins at 6:30.

The football team will be playing Riverdale Friday night at 7:00 in the second round of the TSSAA playoffs. Tickets are available via a link on the HHS website.

Have a good evening.
